band story

"[b]welcome![/b] here is a bunch of music i have created while my life has been changing dramatically. i feel like i'm about to move on to another phase of my life as a musician, and to make that transition more clearly, i am going to start by making this site more coherent. some songs are being deleted. the look of the pages, including art work, is going to be altered. it's a process i'm just beginning, and i'm doing when i have time. this may take a little while. i hope you enjoy what i have posted here, it's a part of my story, and it's important to me. if you hear stuff you like here, i'd be so pleased to know about it. leave a comment here! hope you're having a wonderful day today, whatever day it is! :)"

under construction

i have decided to clean up a bit. things here have been neglected and i feel like i have a lot of work to do here to get this site looking and feeling like i want it to.

image files that don't fit this format, songs that are embarrassing to me and must go away, those are two of the top priorities.

i am also going to stop allowing downloads. the way downloads are working now, i doubt if anyone actually cares what they're hearing from me, since they can now just download everything i have set for it with a single click. yuck. :p
